- On Friday I announced a surge and contain strategy that included a surge of officers, an effort to end the demonstration through reducing the funds/fuel/support for the demonstrators while increasing enforcement for all unlawful and unsafe demonstrator actions.
- This resulted in:
 1. End to the occupation, and removal of structures in Confederation Park
 2. Issuing over 500 tickets, one trucker alone received $700 yesterday
 3. 7 Arrests with a criminal charges for Mischief
 4. Dismantling of the demonstrator staging area on Coventry Road with seizures of gas, propane and fuel trucks
 5. need total numbers of arrests/charges to date – also need total # of by-law offences, POA offences, towed vehicles, etc.
- Ottawa Police, along with our partners, have successfully stopped and turned around several convoys attempting to enter the downtown core – this weekend road closuresx surge & contain strategies resulted in the reduction of trucks/demonstrators by over 50%

- The footprint of the protest has shrunk and is contained – we will use negotiation, support/supply interdiction and enforcement to further reduce and end the demonstration
- We know Ottawa residents are tired, frustrated and angry. They have every right to be. But the OPS and I are working 24/7 to bring an end to this while engaging as many policing/national security partners to assist us
- We also know that policing is only part of this solution. I am working with Mayor Watson and Chair Deans to support their advocacy for additional resources and supports as we enter the second week of this unlawful demonstration.
- No one should misunderstand what I am saying. We are doing everything we can to bring this unacceptable situation to an end.
- But that includes advocating for more resources from all of our partners and action at every level of government
